Mad Vlad shock trip to Ukraine

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin has visited occupied parts of the Ukrainian region of Kherson.

He attended a military meeting to hear reports from commanders, according to the Kremlin.

Evil Putin is also thought to have visited the Luhansk region. Russia annexed Kherson and Luhansk last year.

Such trips by the Russian leader are rare, although he made a surprise visit to Mariupol in March.

It is not known when the trip to Kherson took place but at one point in footage released of the trip, Mr Putin refers to the Easter holiday "coming up" – suggesting that it happened some days ago. Orthodox Easter was celebrated last Sunday.

The Kremlin has said that the trips were not prepared in advance.

Jobless rate rises again

BRITAIN'S unemployment rate has risen and vacancies have fallen for the ninth month in a row.

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) said the unemployment rate lifted to 3.8% in the three months to February, up from 3.7%.

The data also revealed that vacancies fell by another 47,000 to 1.1 million in the three months to March.

The ONS said it reflects "uncertainty across industries, as survey respondents continue to cite economic pressures as a factor in holding back on recruitment".

How is that even POSSIBLE..? TRAIN TRAVEL TO GET WORSE!

BRITAIN'S shit rail system is about to get even WORSE!

Train delays will worsen over the next five years due to rising costs and funding, according to a leaked Network Rail document.

The presentation reportedly said current funding would not let Network Rail "operate, maintain and renew" their tracks, bridges and earthworks infrastructure.

Rather than replacing with new infrastructure, they are continuing to repair the old, which will be more expensive in the long term.

A £3bn "risk fund", which is designed to help in emergencies such as severe weather, will also reportedly be cut, and priority given to fixing rail services that make the most money.

Over the next five years, there will be fewer repairs, and there could be more obstructions that cause delays and accidents due to an inability to clear them. The "official-sensitive-commercial" report was intended for rail industry bosses but was seen by The Independent.

It comes on top of record cancellations and wait times between October to December last year, with 4.5% of all trains cancelled, the highest rate since 2014, and only 62.3% of station stops arriving on time, according to the Office of Rail and Road.

Sunak 'not sinister' as probe starts

RISHI Sunak has not done "anything sinister" surrounding his financial interests as he is investigated over a failure to make a declaration to MPs, a minister has said.

The Prime Minister is facing an inquiry by Parliament's standards watchdog amid claims he did not declare his wife's shares in a childcare agency that benefited from the Budget.

Downing Street insists Mr Sunak "transparently" declared the shares Akshata Murty holds in Koru Kids as a ministerial interest rather than to the Commons.

But Parliamentary Commissioner for Standards Daniel Greenberg has opened an investigation under rules demanding MPs are "open and frank" with their interests.

Mr Sunak did not detail the shares when questioned by MPs on the Liaison Committee about why one of his policies favoured private childcare firms.

Home Office minister Chris Philp said: "He has declared his wife's interests."

Fatties cause higher taxes

FATTIES will lead to higher taxes, a think tank has warned.

The Institute for Government (IfG) said every government since 1992 has missed targets to cut obesity.

In a new report, it warns that rising UK obesity rates are harming people's health, burdening the NHS and damaging the economy.

The study said: "The UK's efforts to tackle obesity have suffered from politicians worrying about the perception of 'nanny-statism' and policies hitting poorer people harder."

"The Health Dept has struggled to focus on prevention or drive progress, with many of the levers, including on regulations and taxes, held elsewhere."

MINISTERS TO BAN DEADLY

BAN THE BLADE

FINALLY: Braverman is looking at banning big blades

ZOMBIE KNIVES

MACHETES and so-called zombie knives "with no practical use" could be banned in England and Wales under proposals to shut legal loopholes and curb violence.

Certain knives which are "designed to look menacing" and are not banned would be made illegal under the plans, the Home Office said.

A public consultation will look at increasing penalties for their possession and sale.

The move is a major victory for your Sport newspapers, which have long campaigned for tougher restrictions on the sale and carrying of deadly blades. Labour said the weapons should have been banned years ago.

The Home Office said some machetes and knives can have legitimate uses in agriculture and outdoors, but criminals are buying, selling and using the larger blades as weapons to intimidate and cause harm.

The possession of machetes and zombie knives are not outlawed unless they feature images or words that suggest they could be used for violence.

This means that if police find the weapons in someone's home, they cannot seize them, even if they believe it will be used to commit a crime.

Under the plans, police could be given greater powers to seize some bladed articles – even if they are not prohibited.

And the government is considering a new offence for carrying a knife with the intention to injure or cause fear of violence. The current law only applies to those who intend to cause injury.

Horrible

The maximum penalty for importing, manufacturing or supplying banned offensive weapons or selling bladed articles to under 18s could also be increased from six months imprisonment to two years.

The consultation, which will run for seven weeks, will "carefully define" which machetes and knives to ban.

Home Secretary Suella

Braverman said: "The thugs wielding these deadly knives aim to terrorise their victims and the public, and too often even carry out horrific or fatal attacks."

"They are emboldened by the cowardly idea that carrying these blades inflates their own status and respect."

The National Police Chiefs' Council (NPCC) welcomed the plans, describing them as "robust and powerful".

But shadow home secretary Yvette Cooper said the Conservatives "have dragged their heels and are only launching a consultation".

Lib Dem Home Affairs lead MP Alistair Carmichael said the government had "consistently failed to keep our communities safe".

SNP TREASURER ARRESTED

SNP treasurer Colin Beattie has been arrested by police investigating the party's funding and finances.

Police Scotland did not name the arrested man but said a 71-year-old suspect was detained on Tuesday.

"The man is in custody and is being questioned by Police Scotland detectives," the force said.

"A report will be sent to the Crown Office and Procurator Fiscal Service." It added: "As the investigation is ongoing we are unable to comment further."

The development comes as the SNP continues to be rocked by the scandal surrounding the party's finances.

Earlier this month, Peter Murrell, the SNP's former chief executive and ex-First Minister Nicola Sturgeon's husband, was arrested in connection with the investigation into the party's finances.

THIS IS A JOB FOR PETE DAVIDSON!

By SUZIE SHELDON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

TAYLOR Swift's fans reckon their pop idol needs a good length of comic Pete Davidson's HUGE COCK to help her get over her recent split with Joe Alwyn.

Taylor, 33, and Brit actor Joe, 32, split after six years of dating, it emerged last week.

The singer's fans were mourning the breakup, but as happens with almost every celebrity love-split, the name "Pete Davidson" was quickly trending on Twitter.

Davidson, 29, has become notorious for his "BDE" – or Big Dick Energy – and his dating history with many A-list celebs, including Emily Ratajkowski, Cazzie David, Ariana Grande and Kim Kardashian, among others.

And fans reckon he's just what Taylor needs. "Keep Pete Davidson locked up for the next few weeks I'm serious," one person tweeted.

TRENDING ON TWITTER: Pete

"Pete davidson prolly somewhere smiling hard as fk right now," another wrote.

"What's Joe Biden's plan for keeping Pete Davidson away from Taylor Swift?" someone quipped.

"Pete Davidson has the option to do the funniest thing possible," another user wrote.

Meanwhile, Pete has denied he's got a cock like a carthorse.

On streaming show The Breakfast Club, Pete said of his member: "I don't understand. It's really not that special."

"It's a very normal size penis. It's like, you know, not too big or too small. It's just like big enough to enjoy and not big enough for it to hurt is what I was told."

LOCALS want a council to remove an eight-foot sculpture that looks just like a big COCK!

Councillors in San Benito County, California, voted in favour of creating a committee to decide the fate of the 30-year-old erection outside of an administration building that residents claim looks a "phallic symbol".

"An 8ft stone sculpture that just happens to look like a penis... I will not tolerate that message," one local said.

The artist, Richard Deutsch, says the piece was inspired by the landscape at nearby Pinnacles National Park.

Trolls took big toll on Little Mix star Jesy

FORMER Little Mix star Jesy Nelson has spoken about the toll that being in the band took on her, saying she was "constantly being trolled".

The 31-year-old was part of the successful group alongside Leigh-Anne Pinnock, Jade Thirlwall and Perrie Edwards, but left in 2020 after nine years.

In a new interview, Nelson said she has not spoken to her former bandmates since she left, but added: "I honestly wish them the best on their solo journeys now..."

She added: "Being in a girl band, you are a machine going all the time. You don't have a minute to breathe and take time out. That was something I struggled with."

"For me, my mental health issues were an ongoing thing while I was in Little Mix. I was struggling with my body issues, I was constantly being trolled and I really struggled."

Those with children and pets have seen their total bills soar £497 a month.

Some 45% of people were concerned about the cost of pets.

HEATHER Graham recently bared all about her first nude scene in the 1997 porn epic Boogie Nights.

As reported in last week's Weekend Sport, the starlet, then 27, was worried about shooting the full-frontal scene so early in her career.

"That was my first time, and I was so nervous about it... but at that point in my career I was also like, 'Beggars can't be choosers,'" the beauty, now 53, said.

"It was a great script and Paul Thomas Anderson was an amazing talent," she added. "I had a great time making that movie even though it was terrifying doing a nude scene."

Thankfully for her army of fans, Heather got over her initial shyness and after 1997 stripped off MANY more times – most recently in 2021's The Last Son.

Here's a recap of Heather's bustier on-screen moments...

KILLING ME SOFTLY (2002)

It's Brecon bollocks, says John

FORMER BBC star John Humphrys has blasted the 'baffling' decision to drop the Brecon Beacons' English name for an 'eco-friendly' Welsh one, calling it a 'pointless' move that would do nothing to save the planet.

Park management claimed the association with a wood-burning, carbon-emitting blazing beacon was 'not a good look' as the name was dropped in favour of its Welsh-language translation, Bannau Brycheiniog.

The former host of Radio 4's Today warned that it was not only outsiders who would struggle to pronounce the new name, but many people who were born in Wales but do not speak Welsh.

He added: "I also wonder how many of those who gain such pleasure from walking the hills and valleys of the Beacons need to be reminded that our great national parks are vital in the battle to hold back the worst horrors of climate change."

Pre-pay meter ban for oldies

ALL UK household energy suppliers have agreed to a ban on forcibly installing prepayment meters (PPMs) – but only in the homes of people over the age of 85.

Regulator Ofgem said suppliers have signed up to a new code of practice which will also see them give customers more chances to clear debts.

PPMs have been in the spotlight after some suppliers, including British Gas, were caught breaking into the homes of people struggling to pay their bills to forcibly install them.

The tougher rules also mean energy suppliers must make at least 10 attempts to contact a customer and carry out a site welfare visit before a PPM can be installed.

Suppliers will also need to avoid forced installations where a "continuous supply" of energy is needed for health reasons.

Busty Misha Barton to join Neighbours

(...BUT WILL WE SEE HER BOUNCERS?)

MISCHA Barton has joined the cast of Neighbours ahead of its Amazon reboot.

The British-born American actress, 37, who is best known for portraying Marissa Cooper in teen drama The OC, is confirmed as a guest star.

Barton will play Reece, an American who has just arrived on Ramsay St, but whose identity 'is not what it seems'.

Her character is designed to appeal to American viewers, as Neighbours, which is set in the fictional Melbourne suburb of Erinsborough, will screen in the US on Amazon Freevee.

"I'm excited to be part of this iconic show's next chapter, and I am looking forward to being back in Australia – a place I love!" Mischa said.

Presumably, Neighbours fans WON'T get to see Mischa's amazing bobs which she bared in movies including Closing the Ring and Assassination Of A High School President.

A GRIEVING vice girl lunged at and bit a lifelong pal's face after the victim said her attacker's late "mam would be disgusted".

Tyler-Jo Walker slapped the former friend at the wake after her mother's funeral. The victim had stepped in to calm a row between the defendant and her brother.

The 24-year-old's slap knocked the woman's glasses from her face after she thought the friend was siding with her brother. Teesside Magistrates' Court heard that the woman then told Walker: "Your mam'd be disgusted."

It was then the daughter launched at her – grabbing her face, biting her cheek and headbutting her.

The incident lasted 90 seconds with the victim running back into the The Longlands Club, in Middlesbrough.

Lesley Burgess, prosecuting, said: "Ms Walker was having an argument with her brother. The victim intervenes to try and stop this and calm the matter down."

They headed outside but the defendant thought her life-long friend was taking her brother's side. In a victim impact statement, she describes being shocked that she had been slapped across the face.

She made the comment about the defendant's mother as she picked up her glasses.

Enraged Walker, of Embson Close, Middlesbrough, then grabbed the woman and bit her left cheek – which broke the skin. The victim was also left with a painful bruise to her face after the defendant headbutted her on October 18, 2021.

Appearing at Teesside Magistrates' Court, shaved-fanny Walker, who has made a series of porn movies featuring full and oral sex, messy ejaculation and GANG BANGS, admitted assault occasioning actual bodily harm following the wake incident in October 2021.

She will appear at Teesside Magistrates' Court on May 17 for sentencing.

Escort

Last year, Walker was handed a 16-month jail sentence suspended for two years after admitting causing or inciting prostitution for gain.

Newcastle Crown Court earlier heard how a vulnerable 16-year-old was pushed to prostitution after falling into debt with Walker, who worked as an escort.

The victim was shocked to discover she was selling sex and horrified at being told she'd have to prostitute herself to pay off £100 she owed her. She ended up sleeping with more than 30 men in two weeks for money.

Cops to 'snoop' on WhatsApp

MESSAGING services including WhatsApp have issued a warning that the Government's Online Safety Bill could open the door to "indiscriminate surveillance" of personal communications.

Bosses from firms Signal and Element were also signatories to the open letter calling on ministers to "urgently rethink" the Bill.

The Home Office argued that tech firms had a "moral duty" to ensure law enforcement agencies were not kept in the dark about "unprecedented levels of child sexual abuse on their platforms".

Black magic link probed in beheadings

A HUSBAND and wife decapitated themselves simultaneously using a home-made guillotine rigged up so that their severed heads rolled directly into a fire altar as a form of human sacrifice.

Farmer Hemubhai Makwana, 38, and his wife, Hansaben, 35, committed the shock act in the village of Vinchiya, in the Rajkot district of the western Indian state of Gujarat.

Local cops said the couple's two children, aged 12 and 13, found their headless parents' torsos when they came home after visiting their uncle in a nearby village, where they had been sent by their folks the day before.

They found a suicide note stating that the couple had taken their own lives willingly, and that no-one else was to blame for their deaths.

In their parting note, the duo appealed to their family members to take care of their elderly parents and the two orphaned kids.

Cops are now trying to determine if the twin beheadings were part of a black magic ritual.

Higher sex drive men live longer

MEN with a high sex drive live longer than their peers, a study suggests.

Researchers surveyed and looked at health data for 8,500 men – mostly in their 60s – over a period of seven years.

Those who said they were interested in sex at the start of the study had a 69 percent lower risk of dying from any cause by the end of the research.

Researchers believe a low sex drive is a sign of poor health overall, such as bad diet, obesity or other chronic diseases.

A healthy sex life has long been linked to positive mental and physical health, with experts advising couples to shag at least once or twice a week.

Dr Kaori Sakurada, a medical expert at Yamagata University in Japan who led the study, said: "The absence of sexual interest may affect a range of inflammatory, neuroendocrine and immune responses."

YEARS ago, before we had even heard of political correctness, a female member of staff peeling and eating a banana at Sport HQ would be greeted by quiet, admiring silence broken only by occasional sighs and whimpers.

Yes folks, there is no way around it.

Watching ladies eat bananas is very, VERY sexy.

And would you believe it, today is National Banana Day!

Benefits

The creation of the National Banana Day is to appreciate the fruit's many benefits.

All around the world, bananas are a good addition to the meal schedule and are often part of the recommendation by doctors to recuperate patients.

But the organisers neglect to mention how watching a lady eat a banana is very good for the blood flow – to the COCK!

Gay porno star runs for mayor

AN ex-gay porn star is running for MAYOR of his home town.

Antonio Moreno (above), better known by his on-screen name Héctor de Silva, is running for mayor of Carcelén, a village of about 483 inhabitants in the province of Albacete, in Castilla-La Mancha, Spain.

The 38-year-old will be the candidate for the conservative Partido Popular, challenging 12-year incumbent Mayor María Dolores Gómez Piqueras, of the left-leaning Spanish Socialist Worker's Party, which currently controls the national government.

Moreno left the adult film industry six years ago and moved to the area with his partner, before working as a forest firefighter.

During that time, he developed an affection for the village, where he has family ties.

When asked about his work in gay porn, Moreno said: "It is a stage in my life that I don't regret because I learned a lot."

Park 3-way snub man is arrested

COPS have nicked a man who allegedly attacked a couple who refused to let him join them having sex in a park.

Police arrested the 21-year-old in the northern Spanish city of Logrono.

The suspect had approached a man and a woman who were having sex semi-clothed in a public park.

He is thought to have asked them if he could join in the action.

When they said no, he then allegedly sexually assaulted the woman and struck the man.

He is also accused of stealing valuables that belonged to the couple.

A witness, who lives nearby and had earlier called police when they saw the man and woman having sex, was also the person who told officers about the assault.

The unnamed man remains in custody on suspicion of theft and sexual assault.

MARRIED:
Emma and

By BRAD CHADWICK
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A TEACHER sent snaps of her bare boobs to a teen pupil then wanked him off in a cupboard.

If that wasn't bad enough, Emma "Delaney" Hancock is married to the local police chief and is the daughter of her home town's mayor.

Hancock, 26, is accused of kicking off the relationship in October when she texted the student asking for a copy of a school assignment.

Several weeks later, the boy then allegedly sent the substitute teacher a shirtless picture of himself through Snapchat.

Naked

"Are we sending half naked pictures now?" Hancock responded.

The teen replied: "I don't know, are we?"

"Are you trying to get me to lose my job?" Hancock allegedly said.

The teacher and student began exchanging nude photos and sexually explicit videos before engaging in "two separate physical encounters", the documents allege.

The filing states that the boy visited the classroom Hancock was teaching in during her lunch break. They kissed inside a classroom cupboard and the teacher is accused of groping the teen's privates during at least one meeting.

The abuse was reported to the school district in November, Superintendent Mike Franz said.

Hancock was swiftly banned from campus and reported to police in Wellston, Oklahoma.

Hancock is the daughter of Mayor Paul E. Whitnah and wife to Chief of Police Alfred Hancock.

Because of the conflict of interest, the Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation is handling the case, Lincoln County Sheriff Charlie Dougherty said.

Hancock was charged with two counts of soliciting sexual conduct or communication with minor by use of technology and two counts of lewd or indecent acts to child under 16.

She was released on bail.

Word hater banged up

A MAN has been jailed for 12 months for threatening a DICTIONARY over its gender-inclusive definitions.

Jeremy Hanson, 35, was arrested last year for sending Merriam-Webster dictionary publishers threatening messages over their new definitions of "girl," "woman" and "female".

"It is sickening that they promote anti-science propaganda," Hanson wrote in the messages.

"There is no such thing as 'gender identity'. The imbecile who wrote this should be shot."

Hanson, of Rossmoor, California, pleaded guilty in September to two counts of interstate communication of threatening communications to commit violence.

TARANTINO: MOVIE SEX IS A REAL PAIN

DIRECTOR Quentin Tarantino has revealed why he doesn't have any sex scenes in his films.

The 60-year-old helmer said: "Sex is not part of my vision of cinema."

"And the truth is that, in real life, it's a pain to shoot sex scenes – everyone is very tense. And if it was already a bit problematic to do it before, now it is even more so."

However, he did note that if there was ever an intimate scene that was "essential" to the story of the film, he would go for it, but it "hasn't been necessary".

His 1997 film Jackie Brown is the only film that features a racy scene between Bridget Fonda and Robert De Niro.

The movie followed a flight attendant (Pam Grier), showing her journey as she navigates getting busted for smuggling money.

Some of Tarantino's other hits include Kill Bill, Pulp Fiction, Reservoir Dogs and the 2019 smash Once Upon a Time... in Hollywood.

Cops are led on a wild emu chase

A PET emu led police on a 20-mile chase through a town, clocking up speeds of 40mph.

Bird breeder Harry McKinney said one of his family's emus broke loose from their farm in Roane County, Tennessee, after being spooked by workers logging nearby.

The big bird hopped over his 7ft fence and took off running through the town of Harriman.

Mr McKinney tried to follow the escaped bird, called MeeMoo, but soon lost sight of it.

He posted on social media about his missing emu, and his inbox was soon flooded with messages from locals who'd spotted MeeMoo running through their neighbourhood.

The Harriman Police Department also got involved after Mr McKinney passed them information on the emu's latest location and MeeMoo was later retrieved from a person's garden.

I LOVE men who look a bit rough... skin head, muscles and tattoos - someone who as soon as you see them you just know they would throw you round the bedroom.

The bloke would tug my hair and spank my bum and I would be totally submissive with him, and tell him I'll eagerly do anything he wants.

The he would order me to get down on my knees and suck his huge, hard cock.

And I would go weak at the knees.

In my wildest fantasy he would put me in a restrain chair which has cuffs for my hands and feet. He would have total power over me and I would be totally helpless.

He would tower over me and tease me, asking if I'd been a naughty girl and needed punishing. He'd call me 'his sex slave' and make me call him 'Master'.

He'd thrust his dick in my mouth and order me to take it deep throat, then spank me some more, before forcing my legs open and fking me hard and fast.

This is generally the type of porn I watch and it's always been a fantasy.

I've never really met someone into dominance. But I'm horny thinking about it and I hope it happens soon!

Miss avoids jail after sex with student

A STUDENT teacher who picked up a teen lad from his home in her car, drove him to a park and had sex with him has avoided jail.

Ana D'Ettorre, 24 (above), previously pleaded guilty to one count of unlawful sexual conduct with a minor and one count of disseminating matter harmful to minors.

D'Ettorre had been a student teacher at Liberty Junior School when she befriended a 14-year-old pupil.

According to a police report, she picked up the teen from his dad's house in the middle of the night, drove to a Monroe, Ohio, park and had sex with him.

During the hearing, D'Ettorre said: "I would just like to apologise to the victim and his family. I'm sincerely sorry for my actions."

Judge Noah Powers sentenced D'Ettorre to five years' probation.

She must also complete a six-month sex offender treatment programme and has been placed on the Sex Offenders' Register.

'Cocaine hippo' writes off car

ONE of Pablo Escobar's invasive "cocaine hippos" was hit and killed by a car in the middle of a road.

Officials in Puerto Triunfo, Colombia, said that the semi-aquatic mammal was hit along the Bogota-Medellin highway just a few miles away from the infamous drug lord's estate, where he had smuggled four hippos back in the 1980s.

Those four hippos, one male and three females, have now spread to about 150 horny, three-ton herbivores in the area as they have no natural predators and often block local roads.

Officials said the driver of the latest accident, whose vehicle was completely wrecked in the collision, was unhurt.

The hippos were officially declared an invasive species in 2022 after Colombia's environment ministry warned that the animals' urine and faeces could pollute rivers and threaten native manatees.

PORN LEGEND JULIA ANN REVEALS...

GIRL ACTION:
Julia will only shoot with other women

WHY I'M FINISHED WITH THE COCK!

By SUZIE SHELDON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

DURING more than 30 years in the porn game, Julia Ann has taken MILES of hard cock and been hosed down with GALLONS of hot spunk.

But now the adult veteran has stopped making movies with MALE co-stars.

Julia Ann filmed her first porn scenes in 1992 and has been lauded as one of the most revered stars in the industry.

But she has recently discussed why she now only films sex scenes with other women.

Speaking on the Holly Randall

Unfiltered podcast, Julia said she made her decision shortly before tying the knot with her husband, who is not a porn star.

However, the 53-year-old performer added that he was not the reason for her decision.

Instead, she revealed that menopausal body changes have led her to prefer filming scenes with sexy ladies.

Speaking to Holly, who herself has 20 years of experience in the porn industry, Julia said she "hates the gym" and spends more time thinking about how her body looks on screen.

She added she found it easier to control how her body looks while she is performing with women than with men.

Julia explained: "When I have sex with a girl, I can position myself, I can work it a certain way, I can be a little bit more, 'Oh how you doing today??'"

She admitted that, as she gets into her 50s, she feels "insecure" and conscious of any wrinkles appearing on her body.

Holly said she agreed with her co-star and "understood" where she was coming from.

The stars talked about how more experienced male porn stars were more likely to move them "into whatever position you want", which they said was OK when they were "thin and little and petite".

Julia added: "Yeah, and after the menopause, your body moves separate from itself."

The stars also discussed dating people who are not in the porn industry, and how other people look at their relationships with some confusion.

The 32DD beauty, from Reigate in Surrey, said: "Having sex all night can be so fun and so satisfying, but sometimes you need a quick release.

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Biden's
no more
Irish than
I'm a Frenchman!

TWO of my immediate cousins are French.

They speak, read, and watch French telly.

One of them is now a chemist in Paris, married to a saxophonist who plies his trade entertaining diners on evening boats travelling up and down The Seine.

While the other one used to run a hotel on the French island of Corsica.

This is because they really are "French".

Not British-French, or Anglo-French, or any other of the stupid monikers some people like to award themselves.

Hollywood legend and pretty much everyone's all-time idea of God after his appearance in Bruce Almighty, Morgan Freeman, agrees.

He told the Sunday Times: "African American" is an insult. I do not subscribe to that title.

"Black people have had different titles all the way back to the N-word and I do not know how these things get such a grip, but everyone uses 'African American'."

"What does it really mean? Most black people in this part of the world are mongrels."

"And you say Africa as if it's a country when it's a continent, like Europe."

Give that man-God a knighthood.

Fake

Because he recognises all this fake ancestry is ridiculous and way beyond the stage of wearing a bit thin.

It's bad enough that sports stars can somehow play for different countries on the grounds that their great-grandmother's housekeeper's illegitimate son once read a book about Scot-er-land.

But it's something else when the supposed leader of the free world, one Joe Biden, repeatedly feels the need to burnish his Irish credentials.

Biden, who is now nearing the age of 147 and whose brain appears to be melting faster than warm snow, spent a few days in the Emerald Isle last week saying things like "fiddly-diddly-dee" and "where's me ol' nappy, to be sure".

And lo, in the fuddled mind of an internationally recognised halfwit, that makes him Irish.

Worse, the Irish went along with it.

Anything for a few tourist dollars, eh?

But Biden is about as Irish as I am French. Or indeed Canadian, as I have other cousins born and brought up over there, too.

My own mum was born in Cardiff, but that doesn't make me Welsh.

It doesn't even make her Welsh – she was only born there because my grandfather, a bagpipe-hating Scot who lost a leg in WW2, was seconded to South Wales during his army years.

On the other hand her mum, my grandmother, was a proper Scouser who was born and brought up on Liverpool's famous but dilapidated Scotland Road – "Scottie Road" to fans of Cilla Black.

Horrified

She served tables in the city centre bar Bears Paw, which she was later horrified to learn had transformed into a venue frequented by flamboyant "poofers".

That was her description, not mine, but, clearly, she grew up in a different era. And be thankful I haven't told you how she described people of colour.

But while her maiden name was Murphy and was aware and proud of her mooted Irish roots, like almost all Scousers she was never less or more than a proud Liverpudlian.

And unlike Biden, she managed to maintain that to an age far greater than Biden is now, without shaking hands with plant pots, tumbling down airplane stairs, or falling off a bike.

You're from where you're from, and that's it.

Which is why, when Biden is ever asked again about his heritage, he should simply reply: "Delaware," if he could at least summon up the brain power to recall it's a U.S. state and not a plastic storage box.

Police nick nude door knock man

A MAN answered his door to find a bloke standing there in his BIRTHDAY SUIT.

Cop Justin Gorny was sent to Pinhook Bog in La Porte County, Indiana, where the shocked local said the naked man turned and took off running.

Gorny and several more officers who were stood discussing the situation in the car park of the nature area then heard a male voice coming from nearby woods.

The officers, using trails to move closer to the sounds, located the suspect still without a stitch of clothing on.

Geoffrey Manthey, 40, of Michigan City, told officers he was trying to find his mobile phone before being arrested on a charge of public nudity. He now faces a year in prison.

A police source said: "We don't look kindly on varmints roaming La Porte County in the altogether. You may get away with it in California, but we ain't gonna have it here. No siree."

Lesbian squatters cause £40k damage

TWO lesbian squatters and their pit bull dogs shacked up in a rental property for more than a month, caused £40,000 worth of damages and attacked the landlords by flinging a brick and human SHIT at them.

Patti Peebles and Dawn Tiura, owners of a rental home in Jacksonville, Florida, learned that their investment property had been overtaken by the couple after a handyman was sent to make repairs ahead of an inspection for a potential sale.

After the worker found a pit bull with a dozen of its puppies on the porch, Peebles headed over only to find an unwelcome couple had broken into the property.

The women most likely had moved in in March, after a previous tenant vacated the home.

At first, the squatters lied to police and told them they were victims of a rental scam.

SIGHTING: The Aberdeenshire Apeman came and tapped on house window

THE report has been abridged, yet is still presented verbatim – in the witnesses' own words...

"We stayed in a holiday cottage in the middle of the countryside in the middle of December 2019.

"We'd stayed there the previous winter as well and adored the place and had a wonderful time.

"But on our return visit, I saw no animals besides the sheep in the field and they acted oddly.

"I remember saying at the time, 'There's something up'.

"There was a horrible creepy feeling that my husband and I both felt the entire time. On many of the nights we kept hearing this strange long, low siren call which hadn't been there the previous time, echoing all around the woods late at night.

"We were a few miles away from two towns, but neither had any reason to have a siren going, let alone after

WE'VE all heard of the legends of Bigfoot, the Abominable Snowman and the North American Sasquatch. But are such apemen on the loose in Britain, too?

In Scotland, there is the ancient legend of the Big Grey Man of Ben MacDhu.

Are these just legends, though?

Today Andy McGrath investigates a very recent sighting of an apeman, just a few miles from King Charles's beloved Balmoral Estate, where his mother, the late Queen, passed away last year.

Andy, a cryptozoology enthusiast, has spent more than 25 years researching and obsessing about the unknown creatures living right under our noses here on this tiny island in the North Atlantic.

Here he brings us a report from a couple who reckon they saw the Aberdeenshire Apeman...

dark to all hours. I was up at all hours of the night checking on the kids and seeing if the doors were locked.

"Everywhere around the cottage there was just a feeling of needing to be on alert for danger, which was bizarre. At the house we heard bangs, knocks and clangs all around the woods late at night.

"One night, after getting back to the house and locking the door, I was putting some ice cream we had been eating into another container in the kitchen.

Normally, I would store it in the outside freezer, but had decided not to, because of the malevolent feeling in the air.

"Then I heard two knocks on the window and looked up to see what had made the sound. It looked like a chimpanzee hand, very dark skinned, with hairy, bare palms. It knocked again with two fingers, the second two were curled in.

"It then leaned into the window and gaped at me – I didn't see teeth but I could have been distracted by the glowing green eyes. It kind of had a protruding muzzle.

"The head appeared domed but not pointy. Its fur was black or very dark brown. I was about 2.5m away and not happy.

"I didn't tell my husband. I could not say anything in case he went out and it kicked off, endangering him and our children.

"That night I didn't sleep well – I'd get up and look out the window and see that the sheep were in a circle, horns out, not grazing or sitting down, just looking towards the house. It was a clear night, and the Moon was out.

"The next morning there was no wildlife and before we left for the day, while they were eating breakfast, I went to check all around the house. The grass in front of the window was trampled, but no prints – it was dry and the ground was packed.

"I noticed that there was a smudge on the window, where the thing had knocked, that was too high for a person to reach.

"It's terrible to talk about now – it was wider than the damn windows and its head filled one of those panes of glass... it was broader than the entire window!

"The face was snarling and menacing.

"At the time I had no idea what it was... was it real? Was it a monster? Was it some sort of spirit thing? It was threatening, it was unknown and I hid it from everyone.

"Thinking about it gives me the screaming abdabs, the hair on the back of everything is standing up and my back has gone cold just talking about it. It still scares me..."

KILLER HUBBY CHOPPED UP WIFE

KILLER: Stephen Capaldi and wife 'Beth'

A MAN was sentenced to 44 years in prison after strangling his wife to death and then chopping her to bits in the cellar.

Stephen Capaldi, 57, pleaded guilty to murder, abuse of a corpse, and tampering with physical evidence. He also pleaded guilty to obstructing the administration of law and possessing an instrument of crime.

Capaldi was sentenced to 22 to 44 years in prison and ordered to pay all funeral expenses for the murder of his wife, Elizabeth "Beth" Capaldi.

Detectives said Stephen smothered 55-year-old Elizabeth with a pillow while she was sleeping in their home in Sellersville, Pennsylvania, on October 10 last year.

He then dismembered her in the basement.

Capaldi reportedly disposed of the remains in a skip two days later, when she was reported missing.

The couple had been married for 30 years.

Stephen buried more of her remains along the Delaware River in Tinicum Township – a location to which he later led investigators.

Capaldi was arrested in December after being ordered to take a polygraph test during a Pennsylvania grand jury appearance.

"My mother is dead, and my father killed her," Capaldi's daughter said, according to the district attorney's office.

"I have the love of friends, and family, even strangers, but my own father took the person who loved me most."

She added that she feels grief and love for her dad, but he "should never be free from prison to finally leave my mother's memory in peace".

Dear Kelly,

I'VE been dating my girlfriend for a few months but I fancy her best mate like mad and it's driving me nuts.

I think she feels the same way as me because when my girl's not looking she flashes her boobs and winks at me.

She's even given my dick a sly stroke through my trousers, giving me a massive and embarrassing boner.

The other day she went even further when she came round for a few drinks in the garden.

When my girlfriend was in the kitchen fetching more drinks, her pal deliberately parted her thighs and flashed me her bare, shaved minge.

But I'm too scared to do anything about it at the moment, even though I'd love to shag her brains out.

Should I give her one?

GS, Cambridge

Kelly says...

If you don't go for it, you'll never know.

Dear Kelly,

MY boss's wife is 48 and a really fit blonde with a nice figure. A couple a weeks ago she threw a surprise party for her hubby and I was invited.

She looked great in a black dress, which showed off her recent boobjob, and as the night went on we got chatting and flirting and she made it clear she was well up for a sneaky fk.

We arranged to meet in the bathroom and she wasted no time in getting my dick out and slurping it.

Then she whipped off her knickers and I took her from behind as she leaned over the sink.

I've seen her a few times since but now wants me to "look after" two of her mates the same way!

They're both in their 50s but not really that attractive. And she said if I don't do them, she'll get me bloody sacked.

What should I do?

PK, Lancs

Kelly says...

REFUSE – and threaten to tell her hubby about your affair.

Dear Kelly,

I'M a 28-year-old housewife and a couple of weeks ago I was seduced by an older woman.

A woman in her 40s came knocking on the door. I asked her in, wondering if she was upset with some work my builder husband had done.

But she confessed they had been having an affair for two years. I burst into tears and we fell into each other's arms for comfort.

Then she kissed me on the lips, saying she knew a great way to get even with him.

She flicked her tongue in and out of my mouth and I gave in to her as she slipped off my bra and began licking my nipples.

I moaned with delight as she massaged my clitoris before going down on me and bringing me to several shuddering climaxes.

I found it exciting to lap at her pussy, especially when she screamed out in orgasm.

She's dumped my husband, but I'm still seeing her.

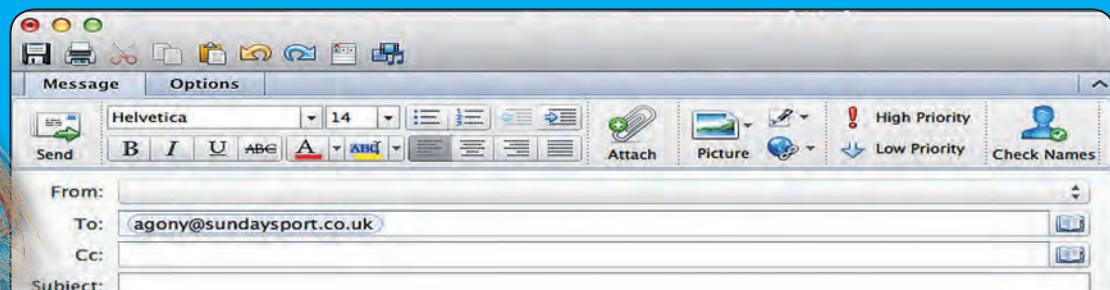

HS, Birmingham

Kelly says...

MAYBE you should dump him too.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week KELLY M cGREGOR has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

I enjoyed best sex ever with expert older lover

Dear Kelly,

I'M a blonde 30-year-old hairdresser with my own salon and I've been dating a really nice fella 20 years older than me.

We met in a bar one night, when I'd gone out with some of my girlie mates.

A group of lads were bothering us and he stepped in and told them they were spoiling our evening.

It worked. The lads quickly went away and he offered to buy us a drink.

Dripping

We chatted away for the rest of the night and when he offered me a lift home I gratefully accepted.

So I asked him in for coffee and once inside I thanked him for rescuing me and my pals in the bar.

Something just came over me and I leaned over and kissed him on the lips.

After sitting in the lounge and sharing a bottle of wine, his hand slipped under my skirt, touching the soft flesh at the top of my stockings.

Then he pushed my panties aside and it must have been obvious to him that I was turned on because I was dripping wet.

As he explored my pussy I felt I would explode – his expert touch was delicious as he probed inside me and we both took it in turns to lick my love juices off his fingers.

Then I unzipped him and started to stroke his hard-on, which was pretty impressive for a 50-year-old.

He moaned with pleasure as I lowered my head and took him tenderly between my lips and sucked him slowly.

Within a couple of minutes I could feel the pressure building up in his balls, so I said we should go upstairs.

We undressed and he licked my nipples and played with my massive breasts.

I then pushed him back on the bed, straddled him and slowly lowered myself on to his rock-hard cock.

I fed him slowly at first and then increased the speed until we both came together.

After a short rest I massaged him back to hardness and this time he took control, pounding me hard from behind until we both exploded again.

It was the best sex I'd ever had and afterwards we lay there for hours, cuddling and chatting.

I've been with him for six months now and I adore him very much.

But the problem is I want us to go out partying together – with all my other pals – but he says he likes to stay in and watch TV.

How can I tell him he's getting boring without hurting him?

JE, Leeds

Kelly says...

HIS raving days are behind him. So I'm afraid you may have to move on.

Dear Kelly,

I RECENTLY moved to a new house and my neighbour, a tasty divorcee in her late 30s, soon introduced herself.

She invited me to a quiz night at the local boozer and said she was meeting up with two mates.

I thought I'd have a good chance of pulling her, so I said yes.

When I got there, her mates were already at the bar getting stuck into some cocktails.

They were also late 30s, blonde and sexy.

It soon became clear that they were not the slightest bit interested in the quiz – they wanted me.

I invited them back to my place and they all stripped off and took turns to suck me off.

I shagged all three before they got down to some lesbo fun.

It was great to watch them sucking each other's tits and clits.

To finish, my neighbour stuck a dildo up my arse while I took one of her mates from behind as she licked her pal out.

We don't go to the quiz nights now, they just come to my place and we f*k.

I'm so glad I moved and several of my mates are now looking for houses round here.

DM, Cheshire

Kelly says...

I BET they are.

SAUCY Katie Brook loves to take control of her fella in the sack, and her favourite position is to hop on board and ride him hard and fast!

The 32DD babe, from Basildon in Essex, said going on top means her bloke gets to see the best view of her bouncing boobs, too.

She revealed: "It has got to be me on top every time!"

"A girl's got to ride!"

"If you know what you're doing then it always feels unbelievably good."

"I like to be in control so that I can make sure it feels as amazing as possible – for both of us!"

IT TECHNICIAN George Kenyon has his eye on dishy Debra Turpin and begged for a sexy snap of her.

Brummie George, 31, reckons there's no girl fitter than Debra and says the Liverpool lovely is perfect.

He said: "I saw Debra in the paper many years ago and she's been in a couple of times since, but not as much as I'd like!"

"I'd have her in every week, flaunting those 36Bs."

"Can I please have a photo? I've been dying to see her again."

CLAIRE LENG

GUINEAS
GUTTER:
Nostrum

Nostrum gets forced out of 2,000 Guineas

NOSTRUM will not run in the 2,000 Guineas having been ruled out of the early part of the season with a setback.

Sir Michael Stoute's talented colt was unbeaten in his first two starts as a juvenile, including when impressing in the Tattersalls Stakes at Newmarket in September, and was last seen finishing third to fellow Juddmonte-owned Classic contender Chaldean in the Dewhurst Stakes.

Those performances saw Nostrum priced as short as 8-1 for opening Classic of the summer, but the son of Kingman will miss out on an early-season return to the Rowley Mile for the Guineas on May 6 and is also ruled out of appearing in the French and Irish equivalents – with connections tentatively highlighting a Royal Ascot date in June.

"Nostrum has had a little setback and he will not run in any of the Guineas," said Barry Mahon, racing manager for owners Juddmonte.

"He's had a little setback and he just needs a couple of weeks going easy, then hopefully we will have him back for the middle of the summer."

"We'll just let him tell us. I suppose we will aim for Royal Ascot and if we get there great, but if we don't, then we will just give him more time."

Owen Burrows will not rush Alifalla back into action, with a late June return on the radar.

The four-year-old won four times for the trainer last term, scooping Group Three success in both the Strensall and Darley.

His international adventures over the winter were scuppered by injury, but he is now back with Burrows building up to his return later this summer. "He has come back to me recently," the trainer said. "He has been rehabbing with Shadwell and they have done a tremendous job with him and he looks magnificent.

"The natural progression with him is to try to win a Group Two and I've always thought Dubai would suit him. My plan before he got injured was to go to the Jebel Hatta on Super Saturday and if he did well, stay for World Cup night."

Burrows also has Anmaat to look forward to this term, with the Tattersalls Gold Cup or the Prix d'Islehan as possible starting points.

The Shadwell-owned gelding went unbeaten in three starts last year, plundering York's John Smith's Cup on his return before adding the Rose Of Lancaster in great style.

"He's well and there's obviously the Tattersalls Gold Cup which comes soon enough maybe, but he appreciates getting his toe in a little bit," said Burrows.

"He'll also have an entry in the Prix d'Islehan and we feel one of the races will cut up."

"He's not a definite for France on May 29, otherwise you will be starting in the Gordon Richards or something with a Group Two penalty."

"We'll see and we managed to get him to win a John Smith's Cup first time up, so he is a horse that can run well fresh."

"He's a gelding and he's there to race. We would love to make him a Group One winner, obviously that would be great."

ALL THE TOP TIPS FOR TODAY'S RACING

AEEZDANCER

Coppice can see wood for trees

COPPIE can strengthen her Classic claims with victory in the Lanwades Stud Nell Gwyn Stakes at Newmarket.

The Kingman filly is bred to be pretty smart as a full-sister to Coventry Stakes winner Calyx and made a huge impression on her racecourse debut in the autumn.

John and Thady Gosden's youngster was a warm order to make a successful start to her career at Kempton in October and delivered an authoritative victory over subsequent winner Whispering Dream.

Coppice is already a single-figure price for the Qipco 1000 Guineas early next month and those odds are sure to shorten further if she can strike Group Three gold on the Rowley Mile.

The Gosdens also have an interesting contender for the preceding bet365 Feilden Stakes in the form of impressive Newcastle scorer Intisso, but preference is for the Charlie Appleby-trained Bold Act.

The three-year-old readily accounted for high-class stablemate One Nation in a nursery at the track in September, taking his juvenile record to three wins from four starts. The son of New Approach reappeared in a valuable conditions race at Chelmsford at the start of the month and did well to add to his tally from an uncompromising position.

Stepping up a furlong in trip on his return to the grass, it is not impossible Bold Act could establish himself as a possible Derby contender.

Imperial Ace gets the nod in the concluding Price Promised At bet365 Handicap.

Third on his Wolverhampton debut in December, Hugo Palmer's colt is two from two since the turn of the year and was particularly impressive at Southwell last time.

An opening mark of 90 for his handicap and turf debut might underestimate him, while the excellent form of the yard is another plus.

Vetiver rates the best bet at Beverley in the Visit racingtv.com Restricted Novice Stakes.

Second to a horse now rated 90 on her introduction, Andrew Balding's filly comfortably went one better at this track in September.

She proved that day she handles soft ground and Balding appears to have been found a gilt-edged opportunity to double up before being stepped up in class.

Docklands should make it third time lucky in the More Price Boosts Races At Unibet Restricted Maiden Stakes at Kempton.

The Harry Eustace-trained colt has not done much wrong in finishing second twice and was just unfortunate to bump into a particularly smart one in Cicero's Gift at Wolverhampton three weeks ago.

Victories

Docklands pulled four lengths clear of an 86-rated horse in the third-placed Bussento and will not need to improve much if at all on that performance to get off the mark in this company.

Cheltenham punters are advised to put their faith in Heltenham in the Grade Two Matt Hampson Foundation Silver Trophy.

Dan Skelton's charge was second in his first two chase starts and has since rattled off a hat-trick of victories, seeing his mark rocket from 109 to 134.

While that is clearly a substantial rise, Heltenham bolted up off 123 at Newbury last month and certainly warrants his place in this higher grade for an in-form team.

Chasing Fire can make the most of having his sights lowered in the Citipost Novices' Hurdle.

The point-to-point and bumper winner was well placed to secure further victories in his first three races over flights, but found a particularly hot renewal of the Supreme Novices' Hurdle too much for him last month.

Stepping up in trip but down in class, he should be more comfortable and remains an exciting prospect.

APPLE APPEALS TO SAVE WAKEY

MARK Applegarth continues to believe he is the right man to steer Wakefield to safety despite their wretched season taking another turn for the worse with a 32-0 defeat by Leigh Leopards at Belle Vue.

Trinity's fifth shut-out loss of the season leaves them stranded pointless at the bottom of the Super League table, four points from safety and with consecutive trips to title-chasing Warrington and Wigan looming.

The hosts trailed 10-0 after an adequate first-half display but capitulated after the break as Leigh completed their six-try rout, with Josh Charnley crossing twice.

After his side's ninth loss of the campaign, Applegarth said: "Some of the things we saw in the second half are not acceptable but I can't continue saying the same thing every week – the reality is we've got to fix it."

"In the first half we were looking good but we came out and did the opposite of what we said we were going to do. Credit to Leigh, who have seen a vulnerability and put their foot fully on our throat and exploited it."

"I'm head coach so the buck stops with me. I'm pissed off when I see that because we're doing one thing in training and coming out and doing another thing in a game, and that's the kind of thing that rattles you as a coach."

Applegarth said he would not

RUGBY LEAGUE By JACK FARLEY

hide from the reality of his situation and knows his desire to launch another improbable escape act could be taken out of his hands by those in the boardroom.

"Of course I think I'm the right man – it's just a difficult process that I have to go through," said Applegarth.

"I don't fear things that I can't control. I've had some pretty honest chats with the board and I've never stepped away from it. If I thought that I was the issue I'd be the first to put my hand up."

"But I feel I've prepared a team as well as I could and we have gone out and failed to execute."

Difference

Leigh coach Adrian Lam hailed a superb display from Charnley and questioned why the former Warrington man has been overlooked for a place in Shaun Wane's 40-strong England squad ahead of the clash with France.

"I think he should be in that squad," said Lam. "I felt for him and you can't do much more than what he's doing."

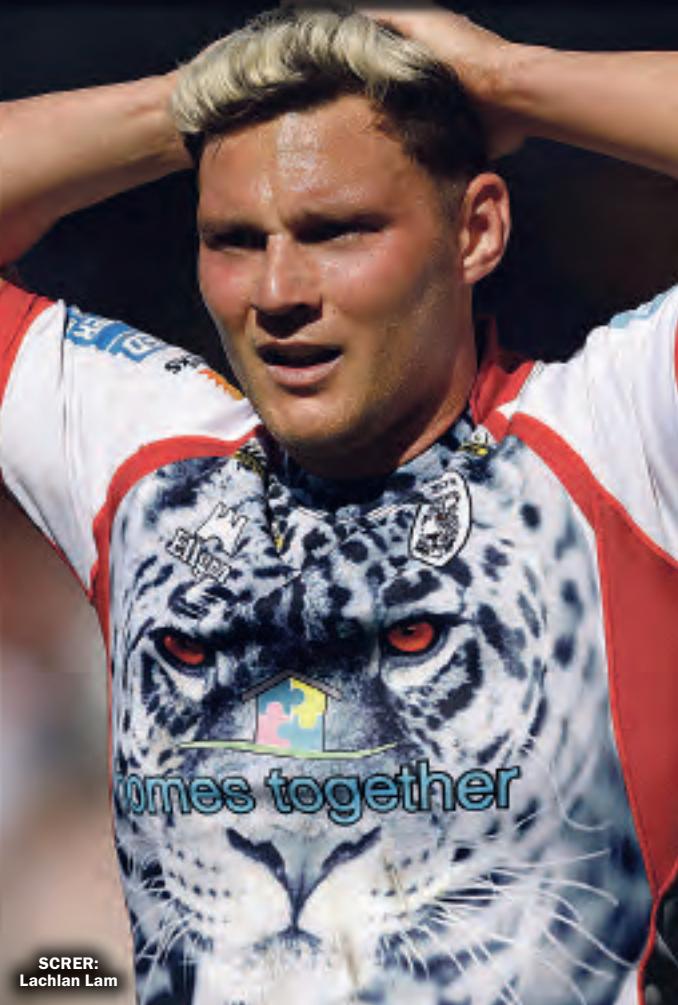

"In pre-season he was as professional as any player I've ever been involved with anywhere in the world."

"He's one of the best finishers ever in Super League and I think he's certainly made a difference for our team."

Gareth O'Brien, Lachlan Lam and Joe Mellor also got over the line for Leigh, while Ben Reynolds crossed and added four conversions.

Their win lifts Leigh to within two points of the play-offs and Lam added: "We knew it would be a tough ask as almost every team that's come up in the last 10 years has gone straight back down."

VAFAEI'S ROCKET MOUTH

SNOOKER By ANDY MILLOM

after his victory over Ding, Vafaei suggested O'Sullivan was a nice person when he was asleep and even put on an Essex accent as he criticised the world number one for making excuses.

"I think Ronnie O'Sullivan is such a legend, he's such a good player when he's on the table," Vafaei said.

"He's such a nice person when he's sleeping you know? You know what I mean. It's going to be a great match for the people. I think every sport needs to have some people like us."

"I don't have anything to lose. If he beats me for example 13-0 it's still the start of my career. I don't fear him."

"If I beat my hero, who used to be my hero, I'm going to be dangerous for the tournament. I'm not going to disrespect all the players because I've seen so many players playing well as well, but it's going to be great if I go to the final."

Told O'Sullivan had been ill before his opening win against Pang Junxu, Vafaei added: "He always finds an excuse for himself, he's been like that for 30 years."

When reminded of Vafaei's comments following his victory against Pang on Sunday, O'Sullivan told

"It will be the first time the pair have met since Vafaei called on O'Sullivan to retire last year and stated he was 'not good for the game' and 'sometimes disrespectful' with his comments about other players."

Germans will still be a test says Kev

DE BRUYNE WARNS CITY NEED A-GAME TO GET PAST BAYERN

KEVIN De Bruyne claims Man City will still need to take their "A-game" to Germany to reach the Champions League semi-finals this week.

City have one foot in the last four after an impressive 3-0 win over Bayern Munich in the first leg of their quarter-final tie.

Yet playmaker De Bruyne is taking nothing for granted ahead of Wednesday's return encounter and is approaching the game as he would any other.

"It's still got a long way to go," the Belgian said. "It's not like 50 minutes to go and you might cover up a bit. It's 95 minutes and a lot can happen."

"You've heard of crazy scores in many games so we'll have to bring our 'A-game.'

"I don't think we speculate about keeping ahead, we just play the game we know how to play."

"We start again and we know it's going to be hard. Going to Bayern, they have a lot of quality but we'd rather have three ahead than the opposite."

De Bruyne showed his frustration when he was subbed by manager Pep Guardiola during the first leg.

"It happens in the moment," he said. "I want to play every game and

By WES DERBY

I feel really good. I've had no injuries and been fit every game. That's it."

De Bruyne was back on the field as City eased to a 3-1 win over Leicester in the Premier League on Saturday.

Erling Haaland scored twice to take his overall tally for the season to a remarkable 47.

De Bruyne made the Norwegian's second goal with a defence-splitting through ball and their partnership is proving a huge success.

De Bruyne said: "Obviously he is really sharp and his movement is excellent, and his touch is mostly really, really good."

"He is there at the right times. You know it is a little bit different to what he is used to at Dortmund or Salzburg but we have been dealing with that a lot, and if you are patient you will get your chance."

Pep Guardiola believes City are playing knockout footy as they continue to chase Arsenal in the Premier League title race. The champions kept up the pressure on the leaders with a comfortable 3-1 win over relegation-threatened Leicester at the Etihad Stadium on Saturday.

City now turn their attention to the Champions League and FA Cup in the coming week but their next Premier League outing will be their crunch home clash against the Gunners on April 26.

"It is a 'final' to play more finals," City manager Guardiola said. "If we lose this game, it will be almost over."

"It was important to arrive in the position that we spoke about a month ago, that hopefully we could arrive at the game against Arsenal and have the chance to be close to them."

"We wanted this opportunity, knowing how difficult it will be, but first we have the Champions League and the semi-final of the FA Cup."

City were soon into their stride against the Foxes, who endured a tough afternoon in new manager Dean Smith's first match in charge.

John Stones opened the scoring with a stunning strike after just five minutes and Erling Haaland added a quickfire double to all but put the result beyond doubt inside 25 minutes.

Haaland has now scored 32 Premier League goals, equaling the individual record for a 38-game season and the overall best tally of 34 is now well within reach.

City will now head into next week's big fixtures in good heart.

Guardiola's side first travel to Germany looking to secure a place in the Champions League semi-finals after beating Bayern Munich 3-0 in the first leg of their tie last week. They then head to Wembley to tackle Championship Sheffield United in the FA Cup.

Leicester's predicament, in the bottom three after nine games without a win, is stark but Smith feels he has enough to work with.

He said: "A lot of very good teams have lost by more than a two-goal deficit here."

"Our season was never going to be defined by coming to the Etihad. We showed a lot of character."

There are good players in our dressing room and they've shown in the last 25 minutes they're good characters as well."

"We've come in and lifted the confidence a bit. I saw a lethargy last week against Bournemouth but I didn't see that here."

THIS WEEK IN SPORT HISTORY

1903: Bury registered the biggest winning margin in FA Cup final history when they beat Derby 6-0 at Crystal Palace, a score subsequently equalled by Manchester City in the 2019 final against Watford.

1994: Cricketer Brian Lara scored 375 runs against England, then a record score in Test Cricket. His feat was broken by Matthew Hayden in 2003, who scored 380 against Zimbabwe, but Lara reclaimed his record a year later when he became the first Test batter to achieve a quadruple century.

2002: The International Rugby Board confirmed Australia would act as sole hosts for the 2003 World Cup, upholding the controversial move to axe New Zealand as co-hosts because of a row over advertising.

WATKINS FOR ENGLAND?

Villa ace fires his way towards a Three Lions call

OLIE Watkins missed out on England's World Cup squad but his form since surely has him in the reckoning for the next selection in June.

The Aston Villa forward scored his 10th and 11th goals in his last 12 games as his side beat Newcastle 3-0 in front of national coach Gareth Southgate.

Here, Midweek Sport looks at Watkins' scoring run and how he compares to his England rivals.

SCORING STREAK

Watkins' current hot streak began on January 21, when he ended a run of four appearances without a goal by scoring Villa's winner at Southampton.

His goals against Leicester, Manchester City and Arsenal proved in vain as Villa conceded 11 at the other end to lose all three games, but his penalty against Everton set up a 2-0 win.

Palace and Bournemouth are the only teams to stop him scoring in his last dozen games, though he scored against West Ham in between times and set up Jacob Ramsey against the Cherries.

He opened the scoring in wins over Chelsea and the Foxes and grabbed a late clincher against Forest, before sinking Villa's fellow-in-form side Newcastle with a brace and an impressive assist for Ramsey.

ENGLAND EXPECTS?

Harry Kane is set in stone as England's captain and main

CROCKED:
Rashford

striker, but several players have rotated in the role as his primary back-up and Watkins has the strongest case on current form.

Since the World Cup, his scoring rate of 12 goals in 17 games outstrips even Kane himself – the latter's 14 in 22, including his two England goals in European Championship qualifying, works out to 0.64 goals per game.

Marcus Rashford, whose own post-World Cup hot streak captured the attention before that of Watkins, has 20 in a massive 28 fixtures in that time – also a 0.71 average but edging out Watkins at the third decimal place.

That workload may have proved costly for Rashford, who missed England's March camp as a precaution and has been ruled out for "a few games" by United after suffering a groin injury.

Form

Callum Wilson, who earned two substitute outings in Qatar, has scored only four times in 17 Newcastle appearances since and has lost his regular starting place to the club's record signing Alexander Isak.

Ivan Toney made his England debut as a late sub against Ukraine and has scored eight goals in 16 games since the World Cup. The Brentford striker is awaiting the outcome of an investigation into 262 alleged breaches of Football Association betting rules which could significantly affect his availability for club and country.

Watkins' form even stands comparison to the top flight's runaway leading scorer, Manchester City's record-breaking Erling Haaland. He cannot quite measure up to the Norwegian's 24 goals in 22 games since the World Cup break but Haaland too has 11 in his last 12 league matches.

EZE DOES IT SAYS HODGSON

By WES DERBY

assistant Steve Holland, he is excited by Eze's talent and potential.

Asked if the former QPR man is capable of representing his country at senior level, the 75-year-old replied: "Yes, why not?"

"I'm not pushing for that. I never push in press conferences and say I think this player in the team I'm coaching is so good he should be playing for England. National coaches don't need that. They watch all of our games."

The 24-year-old was reduced to a peripheral role in Patrick Vieira's reign but has now scored three goals during three consecutive wins since Hodgson's return to Selhurst Park.

While former England manager Hodgson stopped short of sending a message to current national team boss Gareth Southgate and his moment will be making their assessments and they don't need any help or advice from me on that subject.

"But, if you're talking about a player's ambition, young as he is, a massive possibility to keep improving and keep doing well with every Premier League game he plays, I think if I was him I would be saying, 'I'm so good I'm going to make that my ambition'."

"But the only way he'll do that is by producing more and more of these performances and hoping Steve Holland and Gareth Southgate watch him and come to the same conclusion that this is a player that can help us out."

And Roy encouraged his squad to kick on and ensure survival in emphatic fashion.

"I find myself here because of a really down period in the club's season that prompted the owners to take some sort of action," he said.

"But I must say this group of players is making that job very easy for us."

"They must set themselves a bit of a target now and think we don't want to slip back and if we are going to survive, we don't want to do it by clinging on and hoping we can get a point in the final game."

"We're going to do it because we're producing the sort of football we've been able to produce these last three games."

BIG TARGET: Son

Son so keen to join the Spurs greats

SON Heung-min has provided Tottenham supporters with a lift by revealing he is targeting a place in the top five of the club's all-time scoring list.

The Spurs attacker scored the opener in Saturday's 3-2 home defeat to Bournemouth and in the process moved level with Jermain Defoe on 143 goals for the Premier League outfit.

Son has two more years left to run on his contract and despite Barcelona and Real Madrid being reported as admirers in recent months, the 30-year-old is eager to push on at Tottenham and has double winner Cliff Jones' tally of 159 goals next in his sights.

He said: "I think I've got a few more years to play yet, so I will try to keep scoring more goals."

"I want to go a little bit higher (on the list), so I will do my best."

"It's a big honour to have been playing for a few years now at this club."

"Obviously I'm not really focused to be tied with this goalscoring record, obviously I just want to help the team."

"But it's a big honour to be compared with Jermain Defoe, who is a Spurs legend and scored so many goals for Spurs."

"So I think to tie this goal tally makes me hugely proud."

The immediate focus for Son and his team-mates will be to get their top-four charge back on track away to Newcastle on Sunday.

Spurs will need to assess the fitness of defender Clement Lenglet, who went off with a muscle injury in the first half against Bournemouth.

Davinson Sanchez replaced Lenglet but struggled and played a part in the visitors' second goal when he poked the ball into the path of Dominic Solanke to score.

Sanchez was booted by the Tottenham supporters after and Cristian Stellini ended his 23-minute cameo soon after.

HAMMERS HURT THE GUNNERS

Coufal: We exposed weakness in title chasers to fight back in London derby

VLADIMIR Coufal revealed West Ham found a way to "hurt" Arsenal after putting another dent in their Premier League title bid.

The Hammers, still embroiled in the relegation battle, fell two goals behind against the leaders after just 10 minutes.

But Said Benrahma's penalty and Jarrod Bowen's volley – either side of a missed spot-kick by Bukayo Saka – secured an unlikely 2-2 draw as the Gunners slipped up in the title race again.

"It was an unbelievable team performance," said Czech right-back Coufal.

"We were 2-0 down against one of the best teams in the world and it's finished 2-2 so I am very grateful for every person from our team."

"We were 2-0 down with nothing to lose and there was one situation where we pressed them and suddenly the crowd pushed us. We turned the game, we scored and we were pushing, pushing, pushing.

By PAUL THOMAS

"Suddenly, we were 2-2 and it was perfect. From this situation we found it is possible to play against them, it is possible to press them, it is possible to hurt them. We did it and we have to play like this from the beginning.

"For us, it's very important that we're not in the relegation zone. We go step-by-step, game-by-game."

"It's important we are four points clear but we have to keep going like this until the end of the season."

Goals from Gabriel Jesus and Martin Odegaard had put Arsenal in control but for the second game running they blew a 2-0 lead, having been pegged back at Liverpool last weekend.

Their lead at the top of the table is now down to four points over

Manchester City, who have a game in hand.

"Once again, the three points were in our hands," Jesus told the club website.

"Obviously the game is 90 minutes, it's not 20. As a team, we have to raise the level and come back to our principles."

"We know our strength, we know what we can do. Where we want to attack the opponent, in the first 10 to 20 minutes we did so good, after that we dropped our level and that obviously cannot happen if you want to fight for the title."

So what has gone wrong for Mikel Arteta's men?

WAS DRAWING AT LIVERPOOL AND WEST HAM REALLY THAT BAD?

Under different circumstances, taking a point away at Anfield and then drawing a London derby against a side battling relegation would not be seen as a poor week's work. Unfortunately for Arsenal, though, both the timing and the manner of the two results will have impacted the whole mood at the club. They have not won a league game at Liverpool since 2012 but were 2-0 ahead before being caught and then hanging on for a draw. Fast forward a week and they made the same mistake at West Ham, racing two goals up inside 10 minutes only to take their foot off the gas, concede twice, miss a penalty and drop another couple of points.

WHAT HAS BEEN MISSING RECENTLY?

It is a question of who rather than what. William Saliba's back injury suffered in the Europa League defeat to Sporting Lisbon has seen the France defender miss the last four games, having previously started every league game for the Gunners this season. Arteta's side coped brilliantly without Gabriel Jesus after the striker missed three months due to a knee injury, but, defensively, their cover has not been

ALL SMILES:

as strong, with Rob Holding badly exposed at the London Stadium.

ARE THINGS LIKELY TO IMPROVE?

Hopes at the club are that Saliba could yet make a return in time for the top-of-the-table clash with City at the Etihad Stadium on April 26, but, if he does not make it, Arsenal's backline, which was also without the influential Oleksandr Zinchenko at West Ham, will be breaking up against goal machine Erling Haaland.

WHAT SHOULD CONCERN ARTETA

THE MOST?

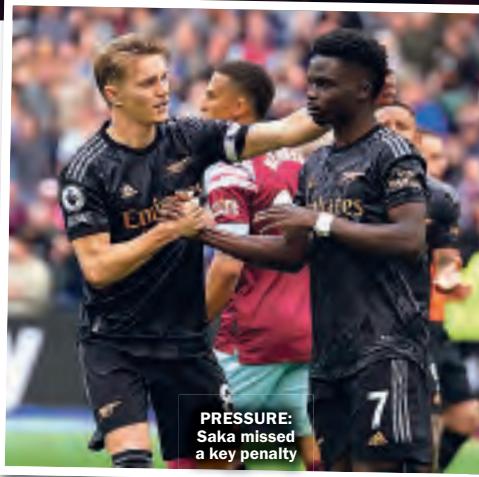

The relentless form of City will no doubt be giving the Arsenal boss food for thought, but there is little to nothing he can do about that right now. Before the two sides meet, Arsenal host rock-bottom Southampton on Friday night. Arteta will want to get the mentality right heading into that game and make sure, if his side find themselves ahead, they go on to seal victory and – with City in FA Cup semi-final action – extend their lead at the top.

HOW BIG A DISAPPOINTMENT WOULD

MISSING OUT ON THE TITLE BE?

Given Arsenal were eight points clear, the obvious answer is a very big one. However, the Gunners have been waiting 19 years to get their hands back on the Premier League trophy and hardly anyone would have expected them to launch such a staunch title bid this season. There would no doubt be disappointment for all associated with the club if they were to slip up from this point, but to have had such a stellar season should still be of comfort. They have the youngest squad in the division, players who have bought into Arteta's ethos and have so far kept a rampant, and far more experienced, City team at arm's length.

GIVE HITMAN A KOREA CAP

CELTIC manager Ange Postecoglou praised the effort of South Korea striker Oh Hyeon-gyu who took the chance to impress watching international manager Jürgen Klinsmann against Kilmarnock.

"Obviously Jürgen was here, which was great, we gave him half a game, but that's not the only reason," the Postman said.

"We want to get him game time because we think he will be a really good footballer for us."

"Again, it's a tricky period with no midweek games when there would normally be some rotation. In every game he's made an impact."

"It was a tough game for him, because the second half got more disjointed. It was a physical battle, which he's always up for."

"He got in a couple of great areas and was really unlucky not to score."

HUNGER GAMES

Lampard: I think my Chelsea players have still got desire

By JOHN ANTHONY

FRANK Lampard insists a lack of hunger is not a part of Chelsea's problem.

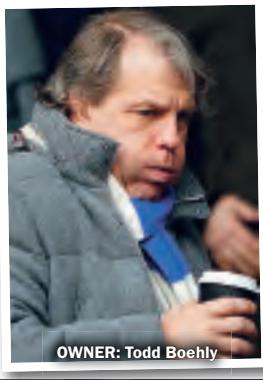

That's despite the Blues struggling in the Premier League since he took the helm.

Lampard reckons a lack of time on the training pitch means he hasn't been able to make an impact on his squad.

"We need to be more difficult to play against at home," said Lampard, whose side have not won any of their last four league matches at Stamford Bridge.

"You talk about confidence at the minute, I don't think confidence is the thing. I think it's the work to build confidence. Because there is talent in that squad."

"At the minute there have been more conversations than training pitch stuff. We haven't had the time. Training pitch stuff is all walk-through, a pretty low level, because of the legs. Talking individually to the players.

OWNER: Todd Boehly

"I think the team needs some physical work. We need that, it's important for us. At this level, we have to be right on the limit. I'm not sure we're on the limit now."

Lampard reckons there is plenty of desire in his squad. He added: "Talking about hunger is really questionable. When some players are lacking confidence, it can really be visualised as a hunger thing."

"But sometimes if you're a yard short, then you're a yard short. If you're receiving the ball and you're not confident, you take your first touch backwards. That can sometimes look like a hunger thing. I don't feel that."
